Color for a Spring Garden

You are invited to visit our iris garden at blooming time. We grow for sale only tall bearded iris. The normal Knoxville blooming period for this branch of the iris family is from April 20th to June 1st.

The new varieties of bearded iris have a color range unsurpassed by any other flower. By planting them you can paint your garden with a bold splash of color that can be seen a block away, or you can give the garden a refined pastel effect that will stand the closest inspection. For this job of color landscaping with iris you can pick a color that dazzles, such as an Indian red or the pure white of snow, or select a hue or tint that is soft and pleasing to the eye, such as the blue of the sky, or the red, gold or bronze of an autumn leaf, or the clear light pink of shrimp, or a rich forest brown. The iris is a perennial that is easy to grow and fascinating to study. It is good as a garden clump, for cutting, for exhibition, or for a hobby. A single plant usually increases fourfold each year and soon makes a good clump.

So great has been the recent advances made by iris hybridizers that in every color classification the best varieties introduced prior to 1940 have been superseded by newer and more beautiful varieties. Some of the recent improvements in color are phenomenal. The varieties listed below have been carefully selected to please the most discriminating grower. The list includes most of the varieties which iris judges in recent years have admired the most. The advanced iris enthusiast will find on our list some of the best of the brand-new introductions. The name of the originator, the year of introduction, the height of the bloom stalk and the price of one plant are listed for each variety.

Price List for 1954 of Some of the Best Bearded Iris

	Each

BLUE VALLEY (Smith, 1947, 36") Perhaps the closest approach to blue in iris. Almost true blue. A nice sparkling sheen and good form.....	1.50
BONNY (Lapham, 1948, 37") A seashell pink without a vein. The flowers are only medium in size.....	.90
BRILLIANT AMBER (Salbach, 1947, 40") Large blooms of fine form in brilliant shades of amber, pink and golden brown. A yellow beard completes this harmonious combination.....	1.00

1. The first thing I noticed when I stepped out of the plane was the cold air. It was a sharp contrast to the warm climate of the tropics.

2. The second thing I noticed was the silence. It was a complete silence, a silence that I had never experienced before.

3. The third thing I noticed was the beauty of the landscape.
It was a beautiful landscape, a landscape that I had never seen before.

4. The fourth thing I noticed was the hospitality of the people. They were so friendly and so welcoming, that I felt like I had found a new home. It was a feeling that I had never experienced before.

5. The fifth thing I noticed was the peace and tranquility of the environment. It was a peace and tranquility that I had never experienced before.

6. The sixth thing I noticed was the beauty of the sunset.
It was a beautiful sunset, a sunset that I had never
seen before.

7. The seventh thing I noticed was the beauty of the sunrise.
It was a beautiful sunrise, a sunrise that I had never
seen before.

8. The eighth thing I noticed was the beauty of the night.
It was a beautiful night,
a night that I had never
seen before.

9. The ninth thing I noticed was the beauty of the day.
It was a beautiful day,
a day that I had never
seen before.

10. The tenth thing I noticed was the beauty of the world.
It was a beautiful world,
a world that I had never
seen before.

Color Classification

The three inner petals of an iris flower that are upright in position are called standards. The other three petals that are lower on the flower are the falls. A plicata has both standards and falls of a comparatively light color, overlaid with stitchings, stipplings or mottlings of a darker color. An amoena has white or near white standards and colored falls. A variegata has yellow standards and reddish falls. A neglecta has standards of any shade of blue and falls of a much darker tone of the same color.

The varieties listed on the above price list are grouped below according to color and price. If we are unable to supply a variety ordered and have not been otherwise directed, we usually substitute, without additional cost, the next higher priced variety in the same color classification.
